Ali al-HU'AYYID, Yemen delegate, then thanked the League for its honorable stand on recent events in his country and referred to the merits of the League's intervention to stop bloodshed. He was followed by Jamil MARDAN Bey, Syrian Prime Minister and Foreign Minister, who submitted the following proposal from his Government:

"The world is passing through a grave stage in its history. The existing horrible struggle between the two great contending blocs will expose the Arab countries to dangers the results of which are known to Allah only. Therefore, the Syrian delegation deems it advisable, in reiterating the proposal it submitted in the session of the Arab League Council held in Cairo in February, that the League Council expedite the study and adoption of this proposal. The adoption by certain Arab states of special policies and of ties which affect all the other Arab countries, is incompatible with the interests of these countries. Therefore, the Syrian delegation will submit to your Council memorandum on the dangerous situation which has arisen from these conditions."
